Class of 1946-47

With the brine of the sea on our lips,
The foam of the wave in our hair,
The swish of the wind in our sails,
The tang of the marsh in the air.

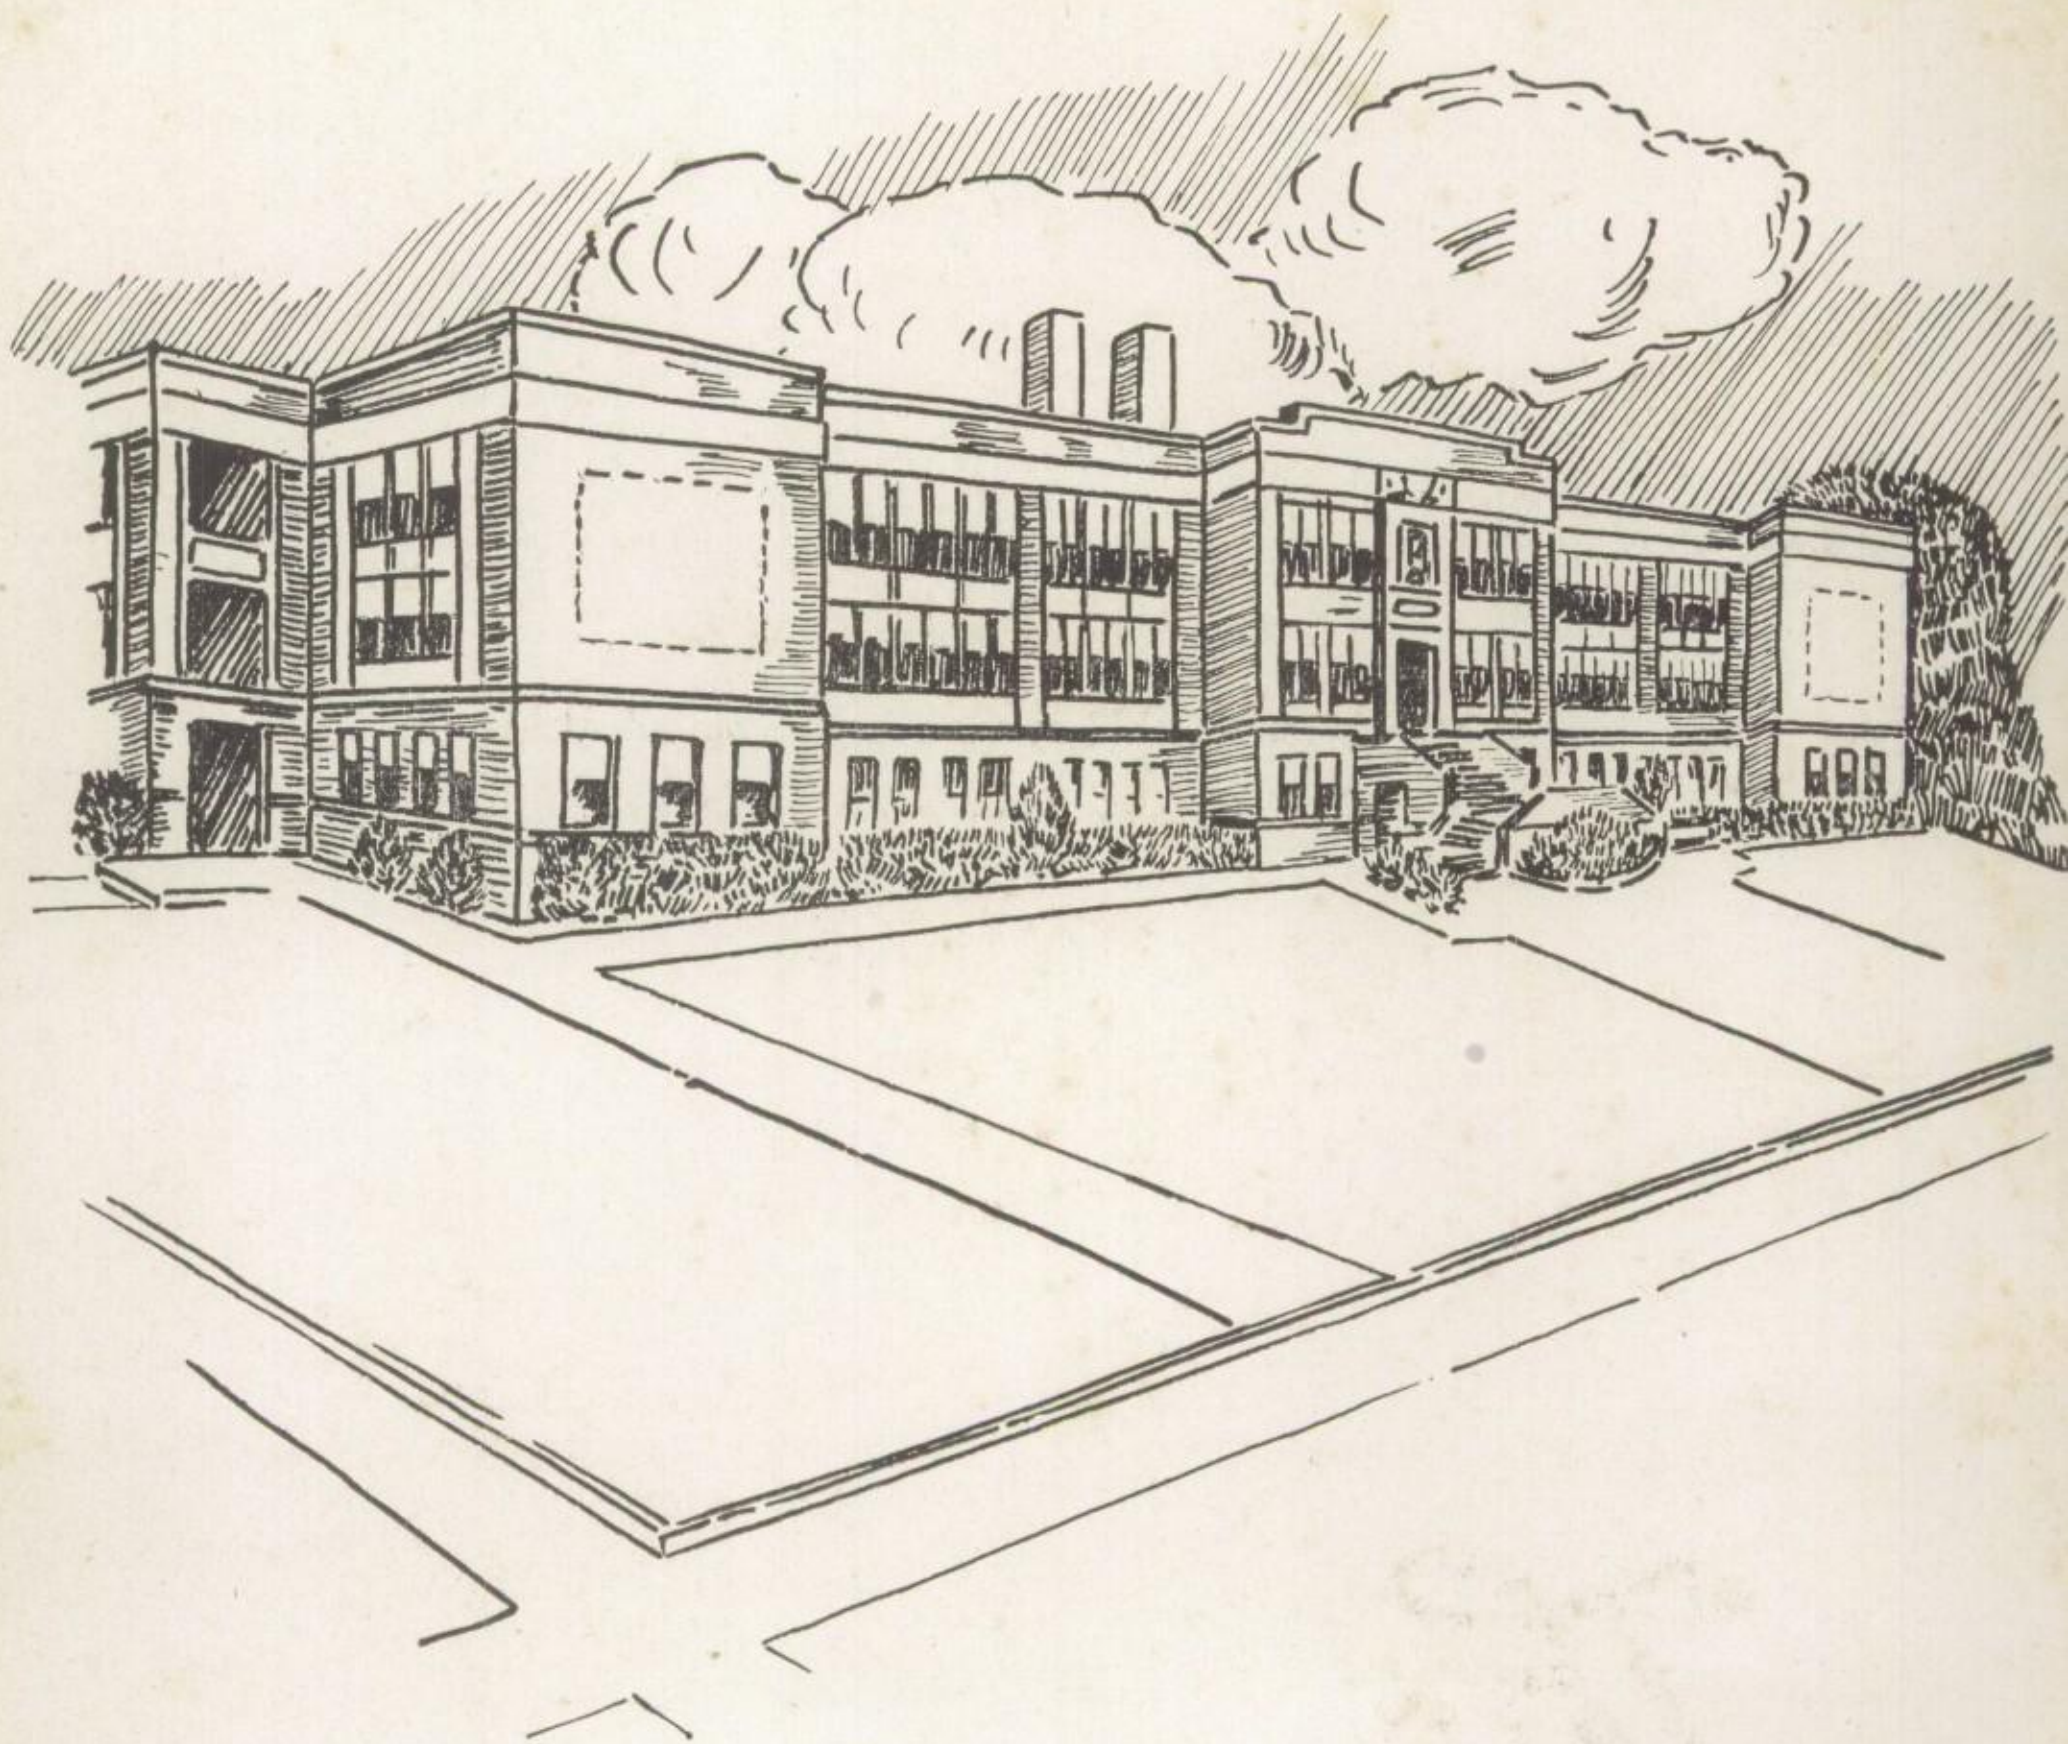

There's a restlessness kin to the waves,
The truth of the deeps to be sought,
With the strength of an on-coming storm
The peace of the calm to be bought.

There are piers to steady our feet
When the waves lash under each beam;
Horizons beckon us on
When we sprawl on the shore and just dream.

There are stars shimmering over our heads
On a vast, troubled blackness below;
There's a broad silver pathway of moonlight,
The pathway down which we will row.

And we call to our playmates behind us,
"Come along! Don't stand there and stare!"
"We can see just beyond old horizons
"New treasures awaiting out there."

HANOVER HIGHLIGHTS

WHAT makes a clock tick? It's not the hands, the face or the numerals, but the mechanism behind all of this. What makes a school function? It's not the building, the desks, or the social activities alone. There has to be someone behind it all to guide and direct it, and that someone in our high school is our principal, Mr. Thomas Tristram Hamilton, Jr. Because our school is the largest in the State, we have to have someone that is well versed in handling disciplinary problems as well as problems of scholastic importance.

Our school offers each student a broad program of development in scholastic, vocational, cultural, and social fields.

In our various departments we have a wide range of subjects. For instance, in our science department we are offered: General science, biology, advanced biology, physics, chemistry, home economics, and home living. The science department sponsors several clubs. This year we have a new club in the field of home economics. It is the Future Homemakers of America. Any student taking home living is eligible for membership. The Taxidermy Club has as its purpose that of developing an interest in the mounting of animals. The Flora-Fauna Club has as its purpose the promoting of the study of biology. The Klick Club is the last connected with science. This club was organized to stimulate more interest in photography and to learn more about its basic fundamentals.

In math we offer business arithmetic, algebra one and two, plane geometry, solid geometry, trigonometry, and college math. The latter are more for those students who plan to enter college and will find these courses useful.

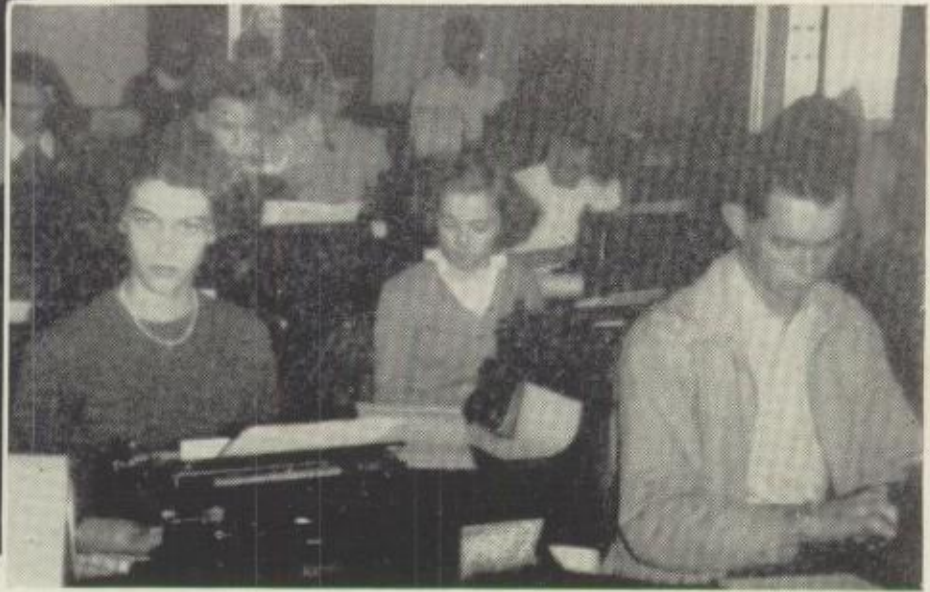

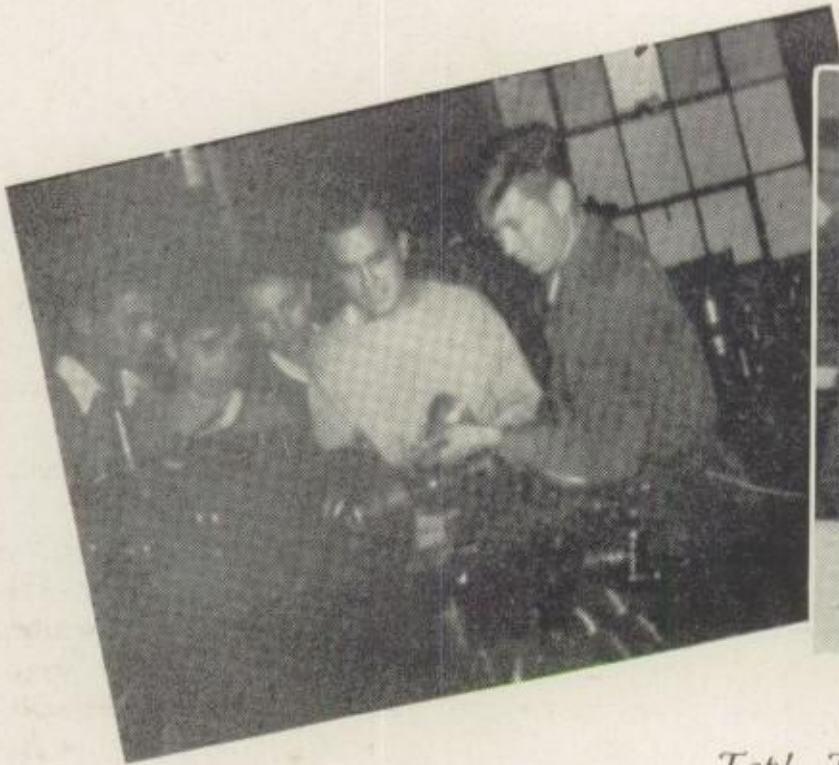

Our social science department is one of which we are justly proud. World history is elective, but U. S. history and government are required. We believe these courses give our students an excellent background for understanding national and international problems.

We all know that English is required in all high schools, but we are fortunate in that we are offered more than the required courses. In our first three years in high school, we take the required courses; but in our last year we are offered a choice. The courses offered are: Journalism, general English, business English and speech arts. The journalism classes publish the school paper, the Wildcat, and learn much about style in writing, make-up, and facts about the newspaper world. Speech arts is a new subject this year. It is a combination of speech and dramatics. The class presented two plays this year. In connection with the English department, we have the O'Henry Literary Society which was created to enliven the interest of the students in contemporary and classic literature. The Thespians, or dramatic club, is not only for the purpose of amateur acting, but also to study make-up, staging and directing. The last English club is the Scribblers' Club, whose purpose is to encourage creative writing. Each year this club publishes a magazine, the Scribbler.

We are fortunate in that we are offered three languages: French, Latin, and Spanish. A student must take two years of a language to get any credit. The language department sponsors several Latin clubs and a Spanish Club.

Our commercial department offers courses in typing, short hand, bookkeeping, filing, and office machines. In addition, we have vocational classes in diversified occupation. Besides these, a very important feature of our vocational work is that we have shops for wood work and metal work.

New Hanover High School has much to offer in the field of culture. In the music department we have the Glee Club made up of chosen members of the student body who have passed the necessary requirements. Each year the Glee Club presents an operetta, and during the year they make many public performances. The choir classes present a Christmas Cantata annually. In the band we have three classes: The "A" or R.O.T.C. Band, the "B" Band, and the "C" Band. These divisions make it possible for many students to learn band instruments. We are very proud of our orchestra because of its youth. The orchestra has only been formed four years. They have the strings, woodwinds, and drums. Programs are given in assembly, and the orchestra also plays for other school activities; such as, Class Night. On honor day certain members of the orchestra are given miniature pins of the instruments that they play. Last year a Music Appreciation Club was formed to encourage study in classic music.

Miss Emma Lossen is head of the art department. Four years of art are offered to all interested students, and the Arts and Crafts Club offers them a splendid opportunity to further their study. During the year, the art classes make all the posters advertising plays, dances, contests, and other outside activities. On honor day the Baxley Art Award is presented to the student who has shown the most originality and excellence of technique in this field.

Books are essential for learning, and the entire front of the third floor is devoted to the library and its excellent selection of books. The library workers are mostly students. A half unit credit is given and all workers must join the Library Science Club. This club meets once a week.

We are very fortunate in that we are one of the few schools that has a course in Bible. This course is entirely separate from other courses because the interested citizens of Wilmington support it. Two years of Bible is offered, and there is a club which meets bi-monthly. Each year the club has a formal banquet and during the year, sponsors many worthy projects. Any member of the student body is eligible for membership. On honor day the club presents a gift to one of the most beloved members of the faculty.

This year the R.O.T.C. celebrates its ninth birthday. There is only one other school in the State that has R.O.T.C. The purposes of the R.O.T.C. are to build character, improve health, and to develop hidden qualities of leadership. The government furnishes all equipment except some small items. One-half unit credit goes to those boys taking it. Freshmen are not allowed to take R.O.T.C., and all the officers must come from the senior class. There are four companies; each is headed by a company captain or commander. Each company has two platoons headed by a lieutenant. The four companies are headed by the staff, which is made up of a lieutenant colonel, a major, the second lieutenant in charge of equipment, and the color guard and bearers. Each company has a girl sponsor who is elected by the members of that company. The staff elects a battalion sponsor. It is quite an honor to belong to the Rifle Club. Only those who are outstanding in marksmanship may belong. Its purpose is to compete in the Corps Area Rifle Contest which is held each year. The Sergeants' Club and the Officers' Club are two other clubs pertaining to the R.O.T.C. Every year the R.O.T.C. sponsors one or more balls. This year the Officers' Club was in charge of the first one. The entire R.O.T.C. has four adult advisers or teachers; a colonel, a captain, a sergeant, and a corporal. One of the main events of the year is Federal Inspection. At this time Army Officers from Washington come down to inspect and test the corp and grade them. The R.O.T.C. presents many awards on honor day.

The largest school organization is the student government. Our school has a right to be proud of its student government because that organization makes and carries out all laws besides producing programs beneficial to the students. The government has as its heads the president and vice-president of the student body. The government is divided into three parts: The executive branch, the legislative branch, and the judicial branch. The president presides at the meetings of the executive council which is made up of the president, vice-president, clerk, chief marshal, director of social activities, director of finance, director of elections, director of club activities, and an adult adviser. The function of this group is to carry out the regulations made and the activities planned by the student legislature. The student legislature is presided over by the vice-president and is made up of the three officers of each of the four classes, a representative from every homeroom in school and three adult advisers. The function of the student legislature is to pass regulations for the good of the student body at large. Lastly the judicial branch is made up of the chief marshal, the five judges, the adult adviser and a number of judicial marshals. The student government sponsors many worthy projects such as the Thanksgiving offering, noted speakers in assembly programs, and many other activities. Delegates from the legislature attend the State Student Council Congress every year. This year the newly elected president was from our own school.

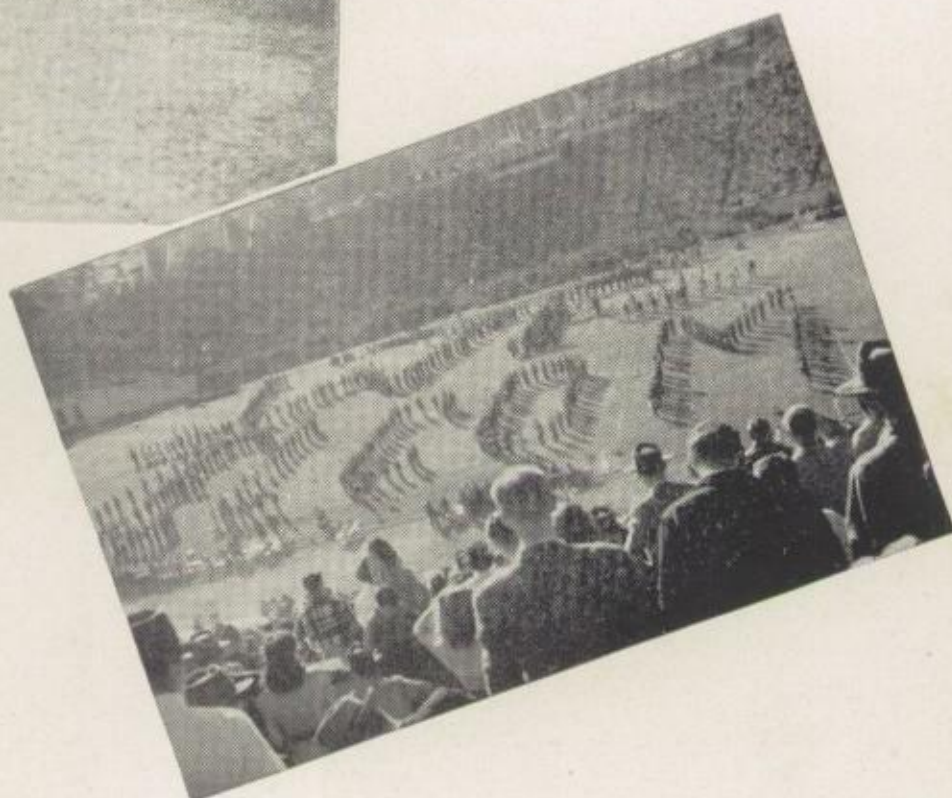

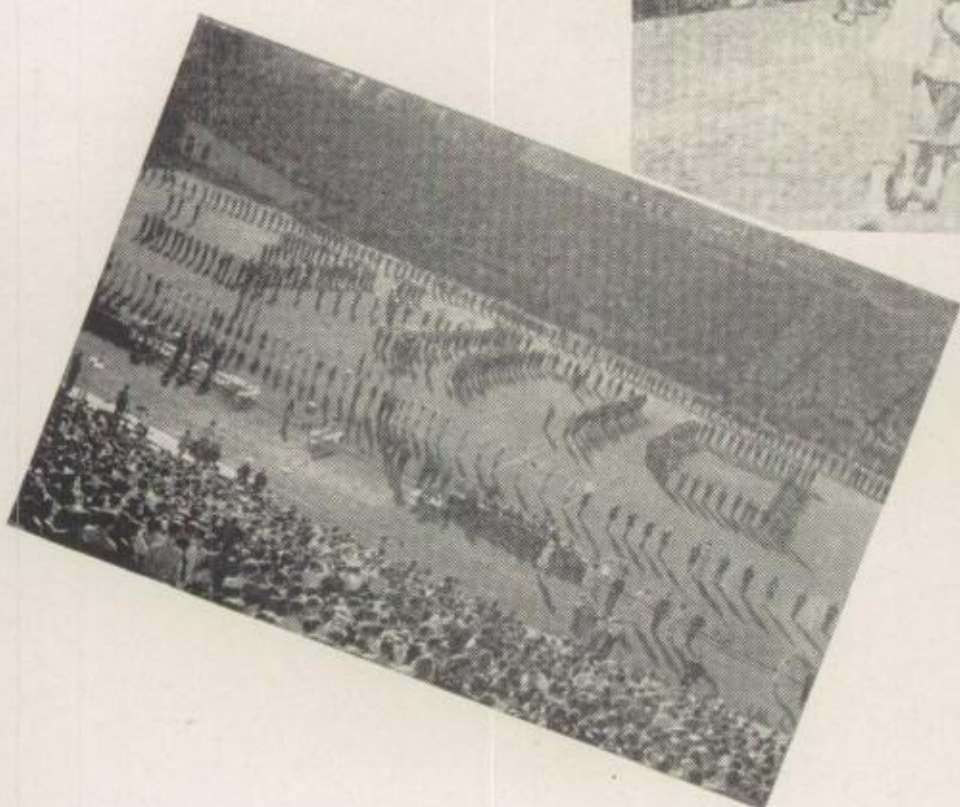

We feel that our students need to get more exercise so physical education is taught to both boys and girls. They have gym three times a week and health twice. The girls learn to dance, play softball, basketball, volley ball, and many other sports. The boys play similar sports with the addition of football and track. We have two gyms: one for the boys and one for the girls. The boys' gym is in the main building and the girls' in the Isaac Bear Annex.

Our football and basketball teams are noted throughout the State for their excellence. Thousands of people attend our games, and we have good support from the adults of the city. We also have baseball, tennis, and track in the field of athletics. We have three full-time coaches: Leon Brogden, Jap Davis, and Tom Davis. Mr. Wallace West is the coach for the junior varsity teams. The Tennis Club is in its twelfth year of existence this year, and was organized to promote this sport in the school. Each year a tennis team is chosen, and this team goes to out-of-town meets. Another athletic club is the Monogram Club. Membership in this club is quite an honor as only those boys who have earned a varsity letter are eligible. Connected with these clubs are the cheerleaders, who cheer our lads to victory or defeat. We have eight girls and four boys this year. On honor day all those cheerleaders who are seniors receive miniature gold megaphones.

To those who work hard some honor and credit must be shown. The highest honor a student may receive during his high school career is to be elected into the National Honor Society. The members are elected into the club in the fall and in the spring and consists of only juniors and seniors. The four cardinal purposes of the society are: Scholarship, leadership, character, and service. These students are recognized at tapping ceremonies held in assembly. A member of this organization must stand in the upper third of his class.

Silly people! But nice!

Our band at Duke Stadium

To be elected into the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y is another honor to be desired by a student. There is a limited membership and all members have to be elected. Each year the Hi-Y presents a minstrel for which it is famous.

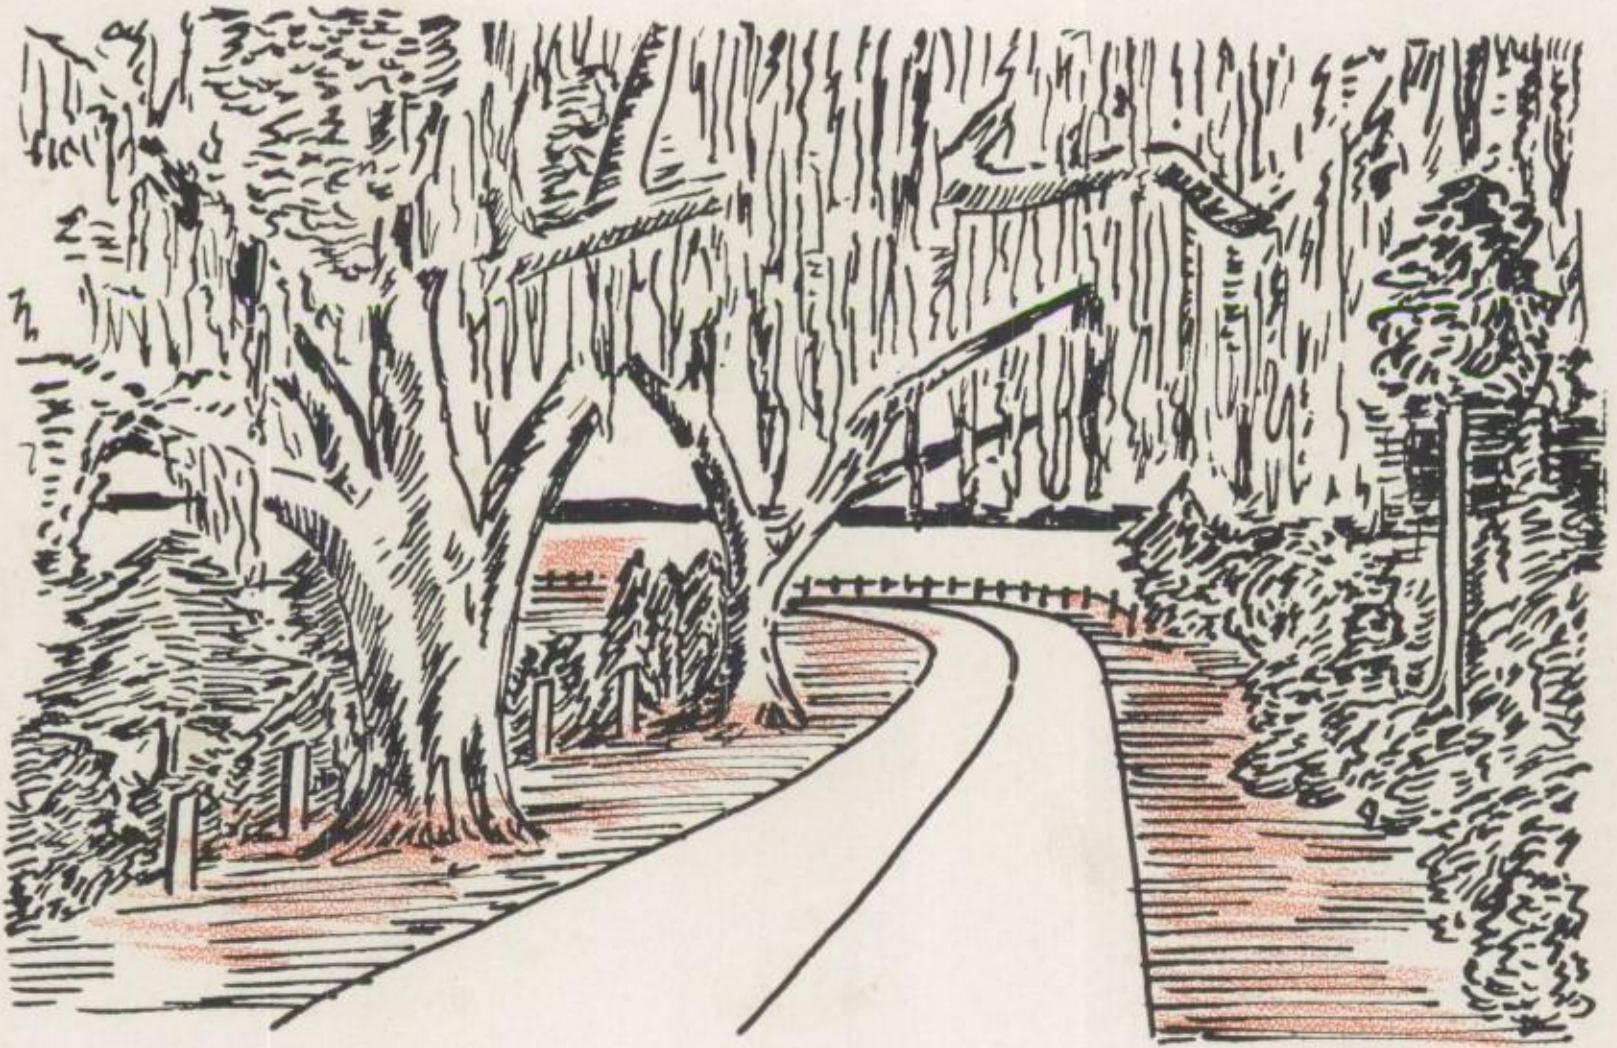

If you aren't afraid to stand before hundreds of people, then you'll be interested in the oratorical declamation contest, sponsored by the Lions' Club, which is an annual event looked forward to by many. The contest is divided into four groups: The freshmen and sophomore boys, and junior and senior girls. The speeches are also divided into humorous and serious. Awards are given to the four winners. Those who enter must have won out in the preliminaries, semi-finals, and finals.

Another distinguished and useful department is the nursery school. During the war, the nursery school was supported by the government, but now it is supported by the State. Children from two to five are allowed to come. Games, working with the hands, and proper manners are taught. The children are fed two and sometimes three meals per day. They also take naps in the morning and afternoon. The children are also taught to play together in harmony. A great deal of equipment including see-saws, swings, a sliding board, and many other large recreational utensils has been acquired.

In the spring, we have another long looked-for event. This is honor day. This is a day set aside on which the students receive recognition for perfect attendance, scholarship and honors bestowed upon them by school and civic organizations. Letters are presented to those boys and girls who have earned them in football, basketball, tennis, baseball, and rifling. The Foy Roe Trophy is presented to the most valuable football player, and the Johnny Schmidt Trophy and Placque to the most valuable baseball player. A new trophy, presented last year for the first time, is the Trask Trophy given to the football player with the highest scholastic record. The girl, elected by the sophomore class as being nearest like Martha Halligan, is presented the Martha Halligan Cup, which was first presented in 1943. The Helen Bridgers Cup is given by the girls' Hi-Y to the senior girl who most nearly lives up to the ideals exemplified by her life. The Joe Schrader Memorial Cup is presented to the most outstanding senior boy by the boys' Hi-Y. The Civitan Cup is given to the most outstanding senior. The Chemistry and Physics Awards are given to the students who are the most outstanding in these fields.

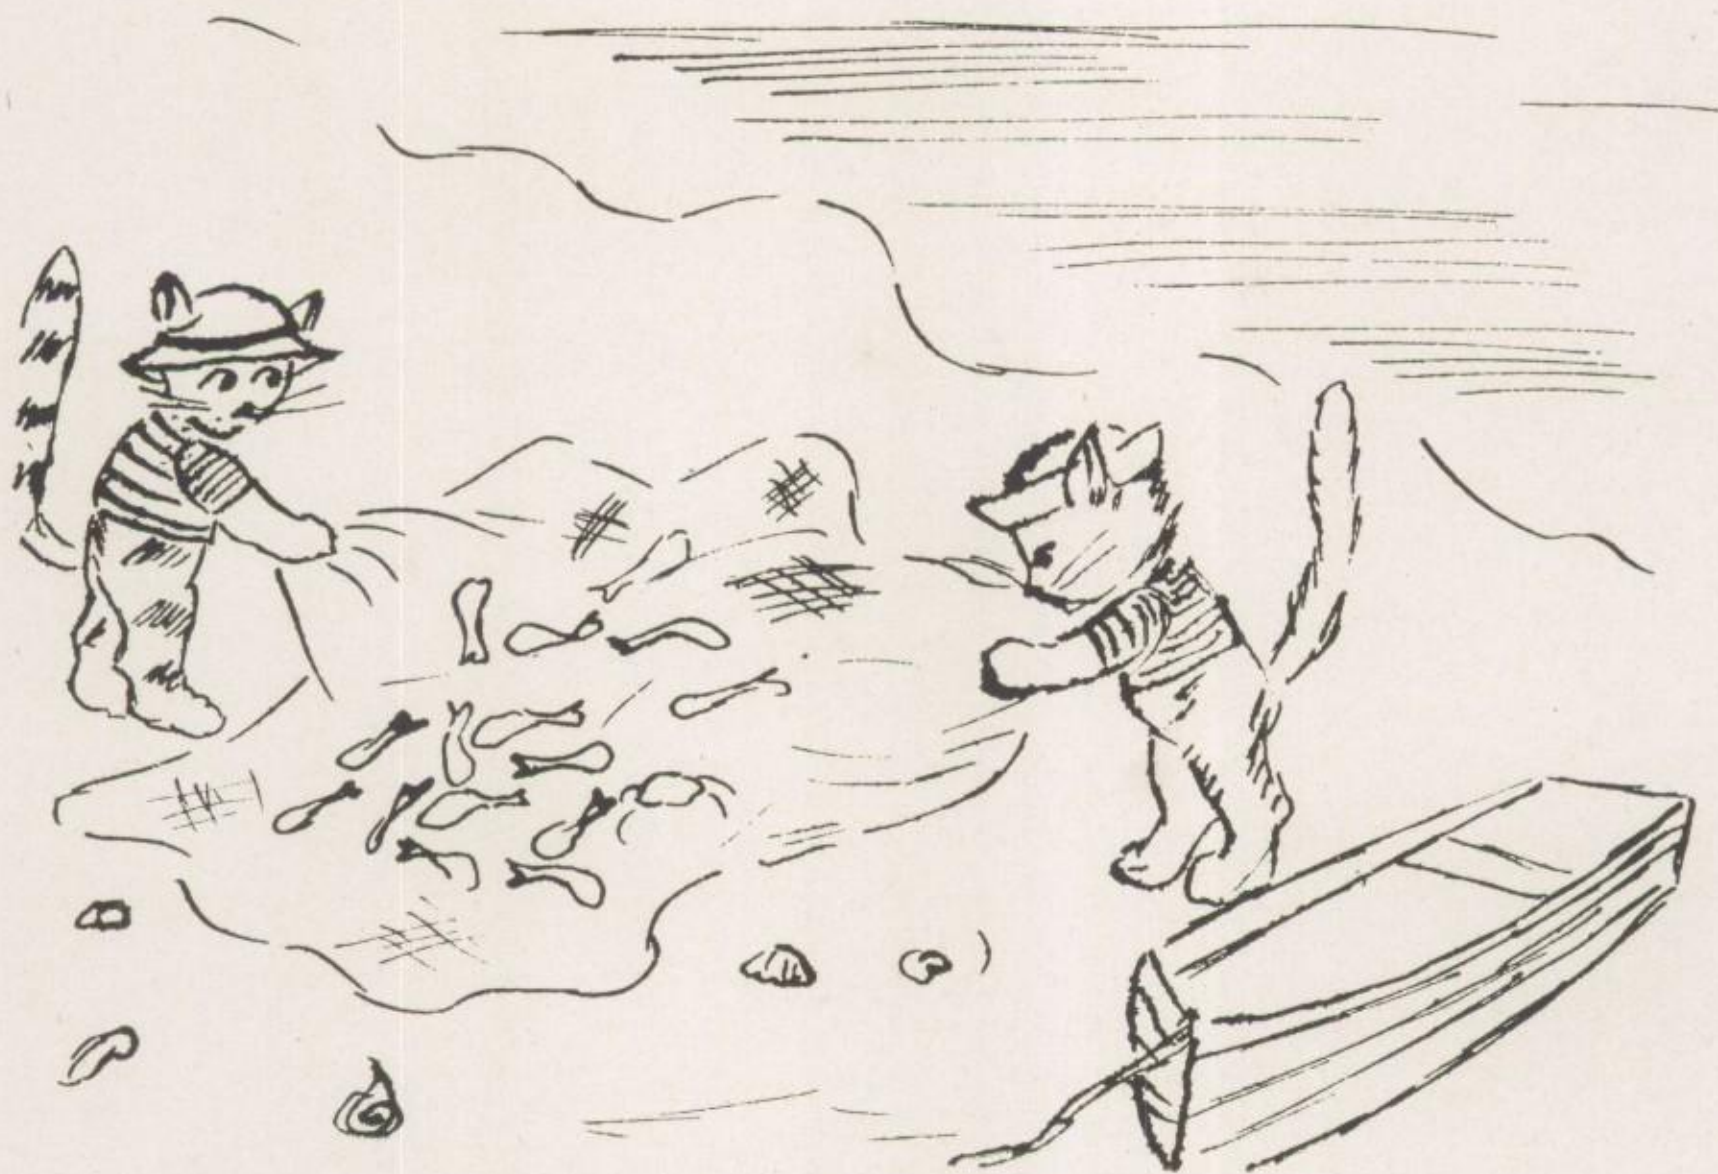

Well, Class of '48, it looks like you had better get to work if you're going to live up to the good work of '47, but best of luck to you and may you always remember your senior year in high school as the best one.

Junior Reminiscences

A DREAM come true! That's our junior year in high school. For three years we have stared longingly at those Senior Steps, and this year some of the braver juniors even did a rush job. It wasn't a success with those almighty seniors guarding them with their lives, but we tried. Now we're on the crest of the wave that will take us to those coveted steps.

We've had loads of fun! It all started as another year under our very capable class officers: Malcolm Crawford, President; Catherine Crowe, Vice-President; and Ann Post, Secretary-Treasurer. Only it wasn't like any other year; for weren't we juniors about the proudest students in high school? Malcolm, serving his second year as our Class President, did a grand job, leading us through our trials and joys with flying colors.

Nothing thrilled us more than measuring for those coveted class rings, onyx set in gold. For days the endless line of juniors straggled down the hall to the office door, each person casting superior glances at the freshmen and sophomores passing.

Our junior play was a roaring success. We really put a lot of hard work into it, and it came out something to be proud of and to be remembered.

One of the high-lights of the year was our Junior-Senior Prom. Under the capable guidance of our class officers, we put our shoulders to the wheel to really try to please the seniors. We hope that we did!

At the beginning of the year we cast aside our childish whims to become really grown-up juniors, to study harder and look more longingly at those Senior Steps.

The year has passed quickly, filled with about everything a junior could want in a school year. As the tide carries away our fun-filled junior year, we sort of hate to say goodbye, but our senior year is mighty inviting. To have a prom given for us sounds pretty good, so we head for the sandier shores of the senior year with:

"Gee, we've had fun!"

To the future sports writer of "World Religion"
Lots of luck,
James.

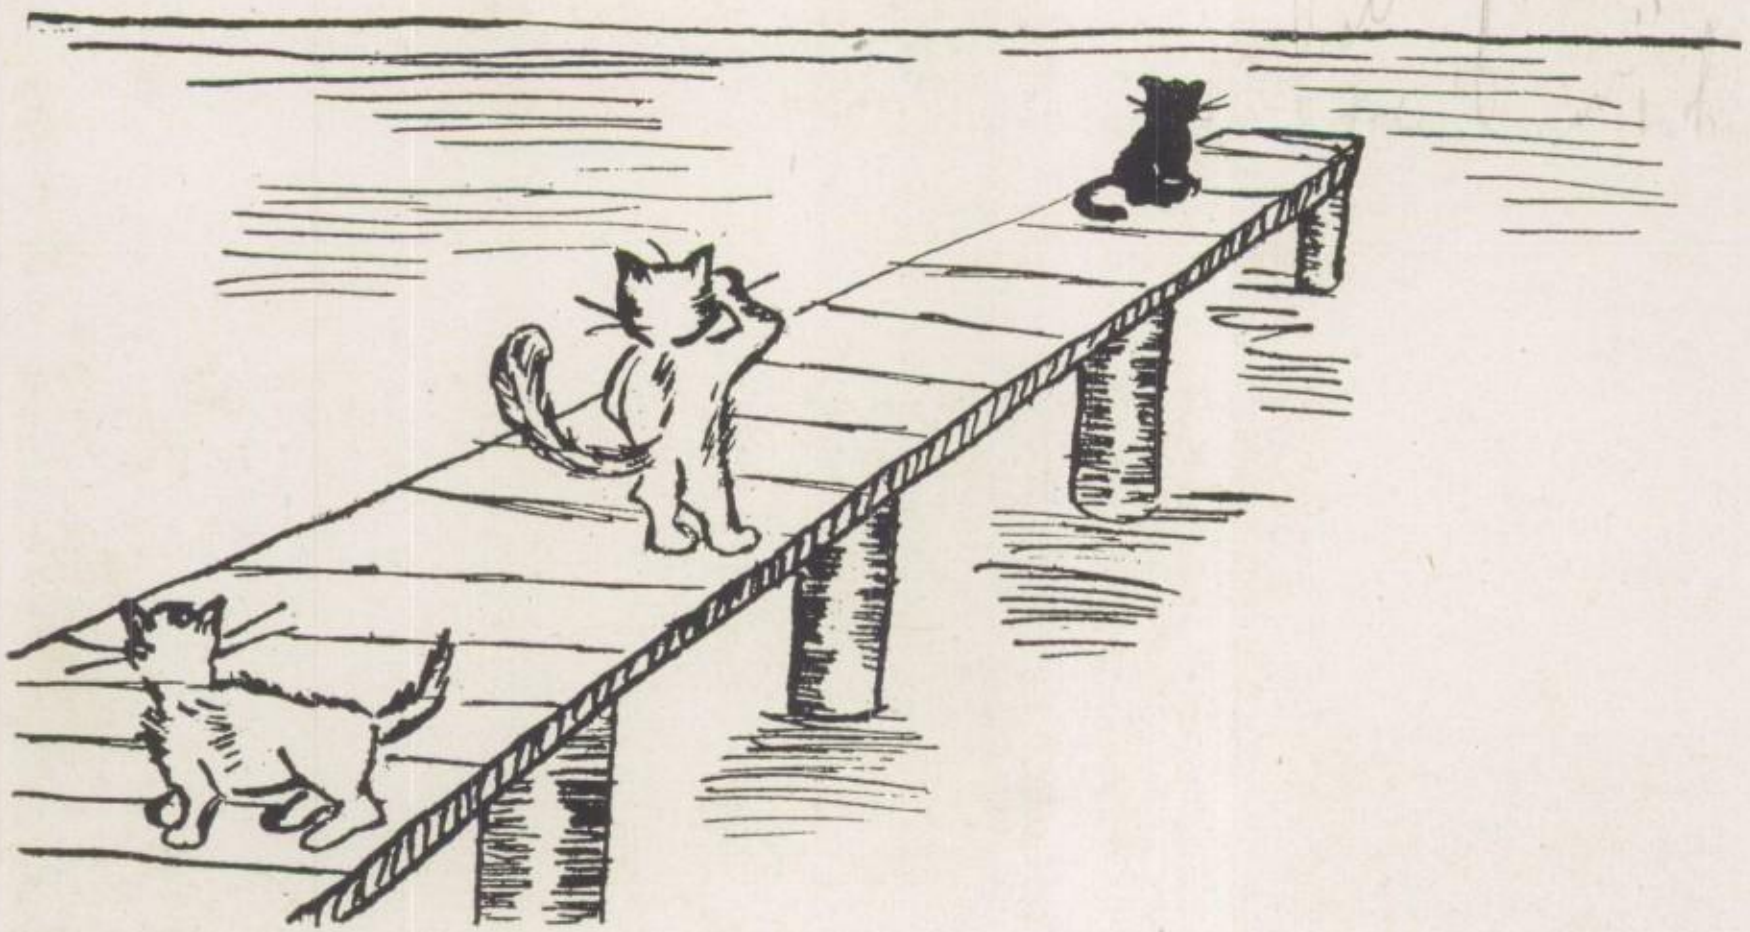

Junior Prom

Juniors, that's us!

"Ain't we got fun?"

Sophomores

THE Girls' Hi-Y is divided into separate chapters for Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. Girls chosen as members of the club must have a high scholarship record and a Christian character. They promise to fulfill the following requirements: Clean living, clean athletics, clean speech, and clean scholarship. Though just organized in recent years, it has supported many worthy causes; for example, at Christmas time each club provides all the trimmings of Christmas for a needy family. This year the membership has increased more than ever. This shows that more and more students are beginning to realize the benefits of Hi-Y.

THE Wilmington Chapter of the Boys' Hi-Y was one of the first to be organized in the South. Today it consists of a membership much larger than that of previous years. The basis on which boys are elected into membership is leadership, scholarship, and Christian character. All boys should deem it an honor and privilege to be chosen to the club. The members earnestly desire to serve the school and community. Over a long period of time, the Hi-Y Clubs have presented annually a minstrel, an entertainment that has now become an institution.

VERY few schools in North Carolina are fortunate enough to have both band and orchestra. New Hanover High School is one of these few. Back in 1942, New Hanover High School started to form an orchestra. During the past four years it has grown in size; and under the careful direction of Mrs. Eric Norden in ability. The Orchestra has grown from twenty-two members last year to thirty members this year.

In the school year, 1945-46, the Orchestra made seventeen public appearances. In the spring an invitation was given the Orchestra to take part in the "Greensboro State Contest Festival-Program." The Orchestra participated in several New Hanover High School assembly programs and also made appearances in the elementary schools of Wilmington and vicinity.

THE Scribblers' Club is one of the oldest clubs in New Hanover High School. The purpose of the club is to promote creative writing among the students. At the meetings, which are held twice a month, the members discuss and try to improve their writing. Twice a year a Scribblers' magazine is published containing the best work of members of the club. The Scribblers' Club hopes that it may continue to encourage creative writing and to make contributions to the literary life of New Hanover High School.

Dramatic Club

BOBBY MELTON	President
BETTY BRITZ	Vice-President
NANCY WINNINGHAM	Secretary-Treasurer

THE Thespians, better known as the Dramatics' Club, is one of the largest clubs in New Hanover High School. Its purpose is not only to instruct students in acting, but also to teach them in the principles of make-up, staging, and direction. Every year the club presents a three-act play and a series of one-act plays. The "Little Minister" was given as the three-act play for this year. The Club has an enrollment of about 150 members, which is much larger than last year's enrollment. This proves that more and more students are taking a greater interest in dramatics.

THE O'Henry Literary Society is one of the largest and most popular clubs in the school. The purpose of the club is to create a greater interest in contemporary and classic literature.

Each year the Society gives a dance, and the profit gained is used for awards in its annual short story contest, which any high school student may enter.

Any student with an interest in literature is invited to become a member of this club.

LARGE crowds of spectators viewed the thrilling games in which our splendid football team showed wonderful playing ability. Under the coaching of Leon Brogden, Tom Davis, and Jap Davis and the able leadership of Co-Captains Jimmy Piner and Buddy Bridges, the Wildcat Team fought hard and ended the season with a total of seven victories and one tie out of eleven games. The victory over E. C. T. C. on Thanksgiving Day was another triumph for the 'Cats.

The student section of the Legion Stadium proved to be a great success. Numbers of students and townspeople flocked to out-of-town games, as did our spirited cheerleaders who led the cheering onlookers.

The Wildkittens also made a name for themselves this year. The Junior Varsity Football Team played some swell games and left behind them a path of victories and gallant defeats. That Junior Varsity Basketball Team did some fine work on the hardwood, too. Keep up the good work, Kittens!

The Varsity Basketball Team of '47 was one of the best yet, and we are mighty proud of their record. In all, 1946-1947 was a successful year for the Wildcats; the teams deserve our heartiest congratulations!

Senior Statistics

AS I lie here on the beach letting the salty winds blow in memories of the last four years, I find it almost impossible to believe I have graduated from good ol' New Hanover High.

Why, I remember so clearly being a green freshman! Our class began to stalk the halls of New Hanover High School in '43, and it was this year that the Isaac Bear Annex was opened. Naturally the upper classmen pulled the traditional "take the elevator to the fourth floor" gag on us, and we were obligingly gullible. We soon settled down, however, and learned our way around; we chose Patty Southerland, Billy McEachern, and Neal Partrick as our class officers.

Our sophomore year found us a little more cosmopolitan, for we were no longer the babies of the school. We also began taking a more active part in all school functions, and we changed our meeting place from the back of the school to the Fourteenth Street corner, where we could begin to view those sacred steps. Our helmsmen for the year were: Winifred Harriss, Marilyn Goodman, and Jean Cross.

After a brief summer of surf and sun bathing, we found ourselves juniors with Marilyn Goodman, Winifred Harriss, and Bobby Melton our class captains for the year. Those black onyx rings, a symbol of three years of hard work, really felt good on our fingers.

"Sixteen in August," a light comedy, starring Frank Bradley and Sara Kay Jordan was a big success as our Junior Play. The prom we gave the seniors carried out a carnival theme and was the best one in school history—at least we think so.

There was one unerasable blot on this wonderful year, however, for it was in '46 that one of our most beloved classmates, Earl Godwin, was so quickly snatched from us. Earl's smiling face and wonderful disposition will never be forgotten, for he still lives in the hearts of all those who knew him.

"Hey, gang, we're seniors! Betty Lou O'Master, Flora McIver, and Ed Pitts are our class leaders. Those steps are all ours, and mercy on the under classman who dares tread on our sacred property."

It was so hard to believe we were actually atop the high school ladder. Half the time I expected one of last year's alumni to pop up and say, "Hey, under classman, what are you doing on the Senior Steps?" One of the most wonderful things about being a senior is seeing your classmates as the school leaders, the officers of the R.O.T.C., the presidents of clubs, and the editors of all school publications. Our senior year also marked the adoption of a new constitution, which proved highly successful. But how can I relate all the senior highlights; there were so many: Our Christmas Dance, our Senior Play, the prom the juniors gave us, and the final thrill of receiving our diplomas are just a few. Each senior could list hundreds more.

Now that we have reached our final goal, we realize how much we hate to leave our school; but time marches on, and we must make place for another graduating class. Even though we are leaving, we'll never forget our school or the friends we have made here. And to our teachers and principal go our deepest appreciation for laying a strong foundation for our future life in an adult world.

Last Will and Testament

WE, the members of the Class of '47, being of sound body, and comparatively sound mind, memory, and understanding, do hereby will and bequeath our meager possessions to our heirs in this prescribed manner and form:

First: To the Juniors we leave all the work, play and good times that can possibly be crowded into one year, hoping these make your last year at New Hanover High School as happy as ours was.

Second: To the underclassmen we leave our outstanding football record hoping that New Hanover High School will produce a championship team next year. (We'll beat Raleigh yet.)

Third: To all future Senior Classes we bequeath the privilege of "passing out" first from assembly.

Fourth: To next year's students we leave our teachers (please be kind to them), classrooms, and all immovable fixtures; most of those not fastened securely will probably depart with us in the spring.

Fifth: As individuals it is our wish to bequeath the following possessions to those not as fortunate as we:

I, BETTY LOU O'MASTER, do will and bequeath my ability to dodge Miss Sanders in the hall to any underclassman who, like me, doesn't like to remain in homeroom.

WE, TOMMY HALL, O. K. PRIDGEN and JIMMY KRAUS, will our ability to filibuster in Mrs. LeGrand's Government Class to Donald Doxy, Fred Babson, and Leonard Colley.

I, LEWIS HACKLER, will my personal chair in the office to Howard Talley, hoping that he won't have to use it as often as I did.

I, JIMMY CAUDILL, leave my ability to heckle Miss Morriss to any one who gets talked into taking "advanced" next year.

I, PRINCESS STELLINGS, bequeath my favorite word "asinine" to anyone who can use it as much as I do.

I, BOBBY MELTON, will my title of New Hanover High School's Sinatra to Pete Acree, who is already on the way to earning it.

I, SARA KAY JORDAN, leave my tiny ears to anyone who has the brains to fit between them.

I, DON HYATT, will part of my famous height to Larry Dagenhart, hoping that now he can reach water fountains without having to stand on tiptoe.

I, PATTY SOUTHERLAND, bequeath my tiny waist to Eleanor Willetts; I hope it fits.

WE, WINIFRED HARRISS and RICHARD GALPHIN, leave our hustle-bustle efficiency to Scott Strickland and Tommy Hamilton.

WE, JEANNINE STANLEY and GENE WARREN, leave the Wildcat in the capable hands of next year's staff. We hope they enjoy their work as much as we did.

I, MARILYN GOODMAN, will my well-worn copy of "How to Win Friends and Influence People" to Rosemary Sweeney. I hope it helps her as much as it did me.

I, VIRGINIA HATCH, leave this year book (at last!) to all the students, hoping it will be a link to their high school days.

I, BOBBY HAAS, leave my blond curls to Charles Russell. The reason is self-evident.

I, PERCY TWIFFORD, leave my quiet ways to Donald Peterson. He may need them eventually.

I, NEAL PARTRICK, leave my way with the women to Malcolm Crawford, although he does pretty well without it.

WE, DIANE COSTELLO and RACHEL CAMERON, bequeath our looks to Jean Bobbitt, to be passed on if not needed.

I, JO ANNE SNEAD, do will my sympathetic disposition to anyone willing to listen to all the tales of woe.

WE, RAY HOOD and BOB DAVIS, leave our sunny dispositions to Johnny Crowley and Poli Barefoot with the request that they try to keep them in check.

I, ALBERT RHODES, leave my freckles to Robert Venters, who might get along just as well without them.

WE, REX WILLIS, RONNIE WALKER, EBE GODWIN and ROBERT FURR, will the fun of our duck hunting excursions to any boys rugged enough to live through them.

WE, the aforesaid Class of '47, leave to the faculty and students of New Hanover High School our promise to spread her fame, to live up to her ideals, and to keep her memory in mind as we go through the world.

In Witness Whereof, the said Class of '47 do hereunto set our hand and affix our seal.

Witnessed by: Jeannine Stanley, Shirley Berger, Nancy Winningham.

Signed: Senior Class of '47.

Class Prophecy

AS I step off the latest thing in airplanes created by the mastermind, "Sandy" Jordan, I step into the arms of 1967. Nice place to land—in the future. My baggage is given to Jack Bryant, first-rate bootlegger by night, who lugs it toward a taxi labeled, "We fly by night; call Hall or Marable." As I step into the taxi, made possible by Neal Partrick and his sidekick, Jimmy Caudill, we fairly leap toward town. The cab driver, H. J. Farr, switches on the radio, made by Jimmy Spivey and Company, in time for me to hear the end of the Bobby Haas' Hour of groovy music with the voice of "Nightingale" (Gracie) Gurganious as its main attraction. The Mary Claire Bates' Hour comes on directly after with a few songs to sweeten the air; a commercial by reknowned announcer, Finley McMillan, about Bob Stewart's "Cream for the muscle bound;" and Steve Stefanadis to answer the questions Mr. Anthony couldn't. A news flash cuts that program short, stating scientists and mathematicians all over the world are tearing their hair and chewing doorknobs because Mademoiselle Mellie Hill Barlow has completely upset the world mathematics with her newest theory that a square is really a circle. Her assistants are Fay Sloan and Franklin Graham.

All the while billboards have been flashing by and different signs meeting my eye; such as: "Allen Lanier's Horse Pills will cure anyone, any time, any where!;" and "Come to Ebe Godwin's for bunions; only man who has a surplus of same!" And "June Ward's rhumba classes shake the world."

As time goes by we enter the city limits, and I see Police Captain Bill Kuhn with his right hand man, Don Hyatt, dragging George Jones and Herman Vick toward city hall for breach-of-promise suits!

On my right I see Reverend Ray Hood and his wife, "Cooter" (Lewis), with their four Jack's and a Jill.

On my left I notice the sign, "Jeannine Stanley and Nancy Winningham Bachelors' Home; we also raise cats" and on the porch, in rocking chairs, reading Quo Vadis, I spot—Senator Robert Congleton; Dr. Hugh Evans; Professor Bob Davis, and Fireman Sonny Blalock.

As we turn off Third Street, on to Chestnut, I see where Mary Anne Jenkins and Judy Pridgen have taken over MacMillan and Cameron. Lewis Hackler is watering the daisies about the gas pump while Shirley Berger, female mechanic, is showing her latest customers, Sybil Tanner and Lorraine D'Lugin, how McKenzie's newest daily machine works. In the background I notice Rex Willis and "Butch" Swart struggling to keep the pink ribbons and lace on their trousers neat while they wax a car, designed by Lina Rogers and Phyllis Smith, with Eugene Ensley's no rinse, no wipe, no rubbing solution.

In front of the Post Office I find Donald Lawrence selling pictures, taken in 1946, for twenty-five cents to such characters as Bob Wilson, Jimmy Browne, Billy Pittman Ronnie Walker and June Andrews. These pictures were taken on sailboats and trains.

I find "Toddy" Fennell's Sports Shop, Jimmy Page's Five and Ten, and Betty Ann Russell's Hardware Store as I ride down Front Street.

From the corner of Front and Princess, I see the Stellings' Fleet and two tug boats which are the property of Billy McEachern. They are commonly called Carolyn (Lilly) and Diane (Costello). Henry Trulove is in charge of both, while Billy Burton is in command of the fleet.

The mayor of the town, Sara Katherine Jordan, and her associate, Dick Golphin, parade by with the city councilmen: Betty Yopp, Catherine LeGwin, Norwood Bender, Flora McIver, Fritz Stelljes, Betty Davis, Albert Rhodes, Martha Holton and Irving Maynard riding in style behind.

A little farther down the street I leave my taxi to stop in Miriam Anderson's Restaurant where I order her specialty, chicken a la president, cooked the special Jo Anne Snead way! While waiting for my order, which head waiter Billy Mason took, I spy a few celebrities, such as: Jimmy Piner, coach of Notre Dame; and Buddy Bridgers, Army's coach; movie idol Bobby Melton and his religious educator, Virginia Hatch; and star of the Metropolitan Opera, Frank Bradley. On my left the movie serial queen, Betty Walter, is dining with the king of the hog callers, Percy Twiford. Along the wall in booths either sipping cider through a straw or blowing foam off a beer, I see these faces: Jeanette Dexter, Hilda Covil, Jackie Godley, Margaret Cathy and Earl Bender, Paul Horton and Doris Helms, and Mickie Hartis with play boy, Carl Williams.

After a delightful meal, I stroll toward Dick Hanson's Goo-Gow Shoppe where I am greeted at the door by his wife, Edna Matthes, who turns me over to Alita Bryant, who in turn shows me to a table near the center, where Surgeon Mary Reynolds is seated. With the sweet music of the Patty Jones' Orchestra, the models Patty Southerland, Jean Cross, Marilyn Goodman and Rachel Cameron swing into view! After a few minutes of showing off clothes designed by Ruth Ellen Edwards and Evelyn Walkup, we see the new Ann Farmer Safety Pin Bathing Suit! No pin? No suit! As the shop darkens, we hear the Carolyn King Chorus, including: Mildred Thomas, Margaret Holmes and Nan Yandle singing sweetly, "The Old Saw Song!" As the room becomes light once more the models have changed, and we now see the following displaying men's wear: Roger Corbett in slacks (ah, what a chest!—no shirt, you know); Bobby Clemmons in the newest silk lounging pajamas (ah, that shave—no beard, you know), and Albert Beall displaying the loudest thing in swim trunks (ah, that hair—red curls, you know).

Full of pink champagne thought up by Winifred Harriss and bottled by Mary Ann Hamilton, I stumble into the street where doorman, Frank Bruce, assists me into a taxi driven by J. C. Price this time, that is waiting to carry me back to good ol' 1947.

On my way out, and I do mean out, I notice one sign which favors the eye quote: "Peyton Pitts' and Otto Pridgen's Beauty Shoppe—we specialize in blondes."

Dear Scoop,

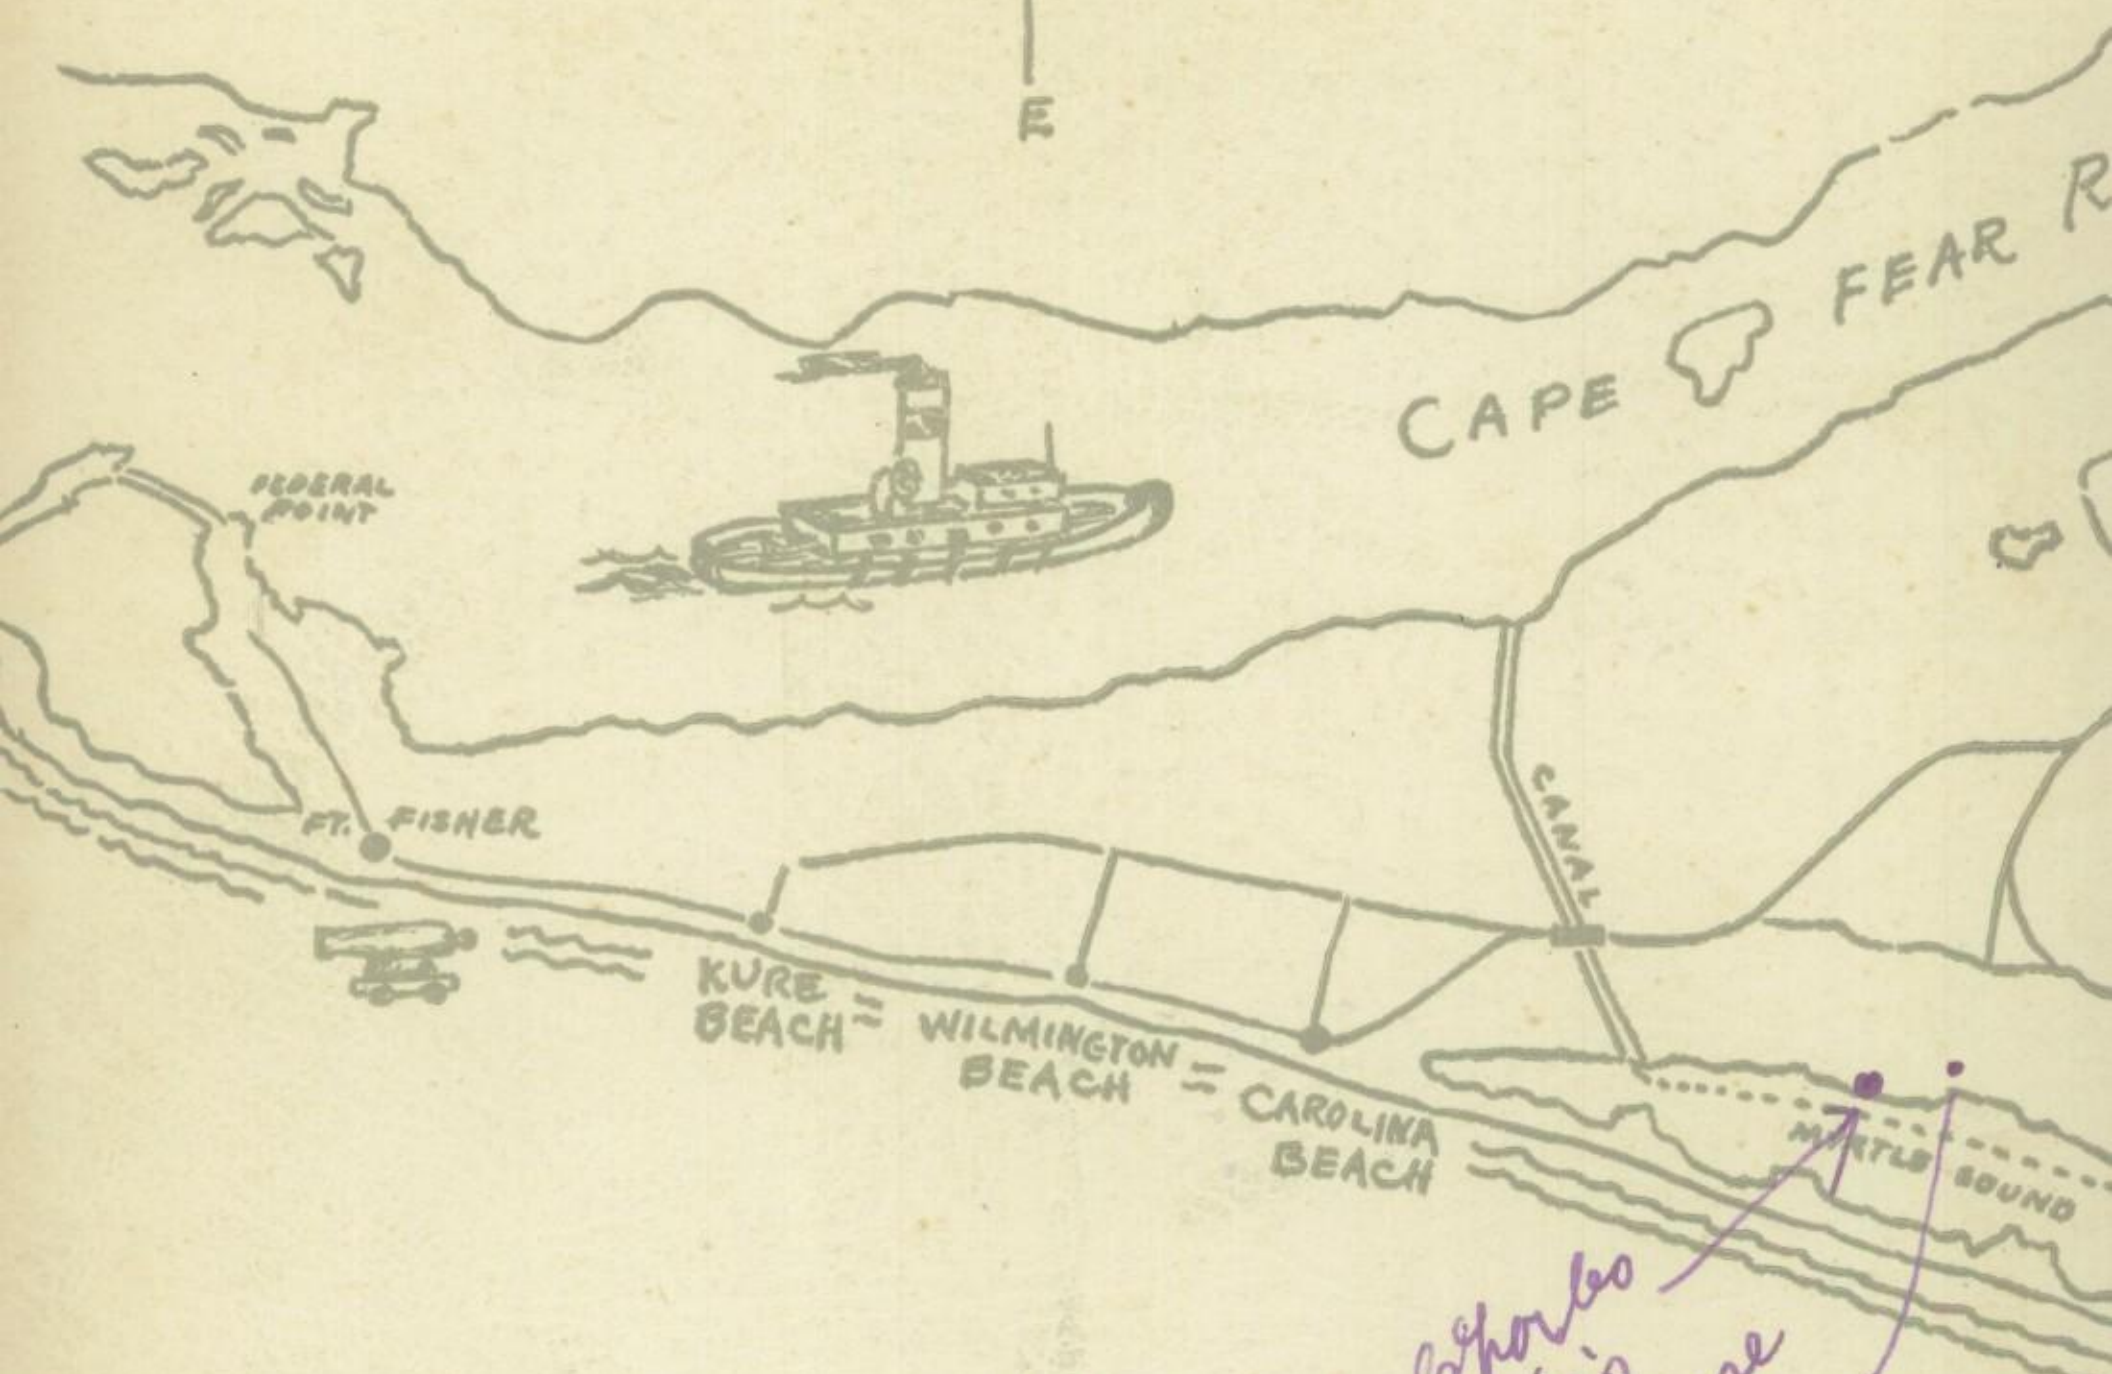

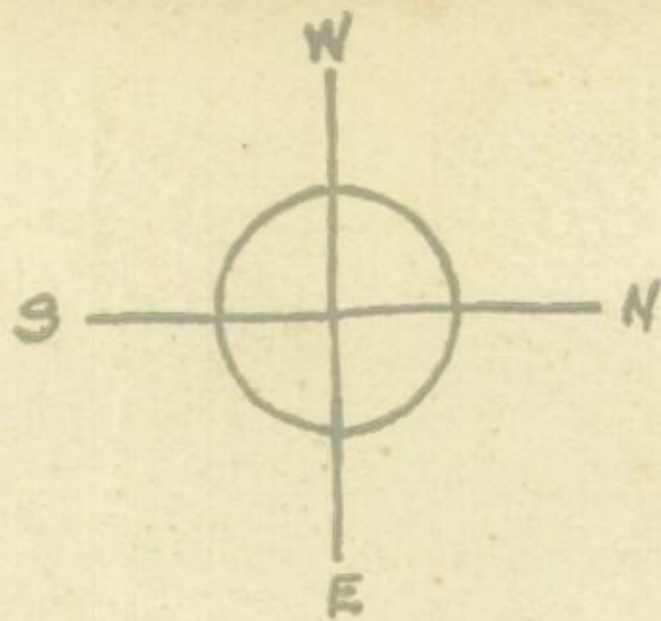

I hope you won't mind my writing this. However, I feel that I must. For now that school is almost over I know the time has come to tell the truth.

Scoop I love you. You are my dream man. Please do not be mad with me for telling you this. Just remember you can never suppress the desire of true love.

Is your my dearest.
